

I would like to comment that the implementation of any regulation that overrides the effectiveness of the Indiana Telephone Privacy Law that we have ENJOYED for over the last year would be contrary to my interests as a citizen of Indiana and the USA. I might receive one telemarketing call a month since this was implemented and I used to get 5 a week and usually when I inform the caller that I'm on a NO-Call list they say excuse me and hang up. That is a LAW that WORKS and one that I endorse... My suggestion is to follow their plan and you'll have something that everyone will enjoy.. except the money-hungry telemarketers that pad every one in Congress's pocketbooks... Thank you for allowing for our input...
